

The Spa At The Hotel Hershey Fact Sheet

OVERVIEW: Hershey Resorts made chocolate good for you by evoking beloved Hershey's chocolate in unique and "chocolatized" spa services at The Spa At The Hotel Hershey.

DESCRIPTION: The three-story, 30,000-square-foot Spa is a full-service, European-style spa overlooking the Hotel's reflecting pools. The exterior architecture mirrors the original historic hotel in style and color.

Based upon High Point Mansion, the home of Milton S. Hershey and his wife Catherine ("Kitty"), the décor mimics the Hersheys' home. The Spa landings are marble, and all massage, facial and wet treatment rooms have hardwood floors and light yellow walls, some with windows that overlook the Hotel's formal gardens.

Located on the third floor, The Quiet Room replicates the Hersheys' library.

There is a separate entrance for the hair and nail salon that features a natural, garden theme using faux-finish wall treatments, marble floors and a focal point floral planter and seating area. Pedicure thrones in private rooms are positioned to overlook the formal gardens and reflecting pools via floor-to-ceiling windows.

HISTORY: The facility originally opened in 2001 and has been popularized by spa-goers who are dipped, wrapped and submersed in chocolate during its most sought-after treatments. The Spa completed an expansion in 2004 that doubled its size and now offers new signature chocolate treatments as well as a Cuban-inspired menu.

Both polishes are available to guests at the Spa for the entire year and can be purchased for $10 for a standard half-ounce bottle.
